

Jess Davis is the Vice President of the Ulster County Regional Chamber of Commerce, where she plays a crucial role in driving economic development and supporting local businesses. In her role, Jess assists the Chamber's CEO and President with the day-to-day operations of the organization and is responsible for attracting and retaining new members, enhancing member engagement, and overseeing community outreach and communications.

Jess spent 15 years in the financial banking industry, working for both large and local banks. She began her career as a Professional Teller and excelled in each subsequent role, advancing to management and leadership positions. Throughout her banking tenure, Jess led training initiatives among her peers and facilitated the bank's Signature Leadership Program, showcasing her dedication to professional growth and effective leadership.

A 1995 graduate of Kingston High School, Jess furthered her education at Ulster BOCES, specializing in nail technology. As a licensed nail specialist, she managed several local day spas before establishing and running her own boutique nail spa. This diverse background in business management and customer service provides a solid foundation for her current responsibilities at the Chamber.

Among her notable accomplishments, Jess is a 2016 graduate of the ULDI and was inducted into the Hall of Fame in 2022. She also received the Scouts of America Distinguished Citizen Award in 2022 for her significant contributions to the community and exemplary citizenship. The Ulster County Regional Chamber of Commerce was given the 2021 Chuck Steiner Memorial Chamber of the Year Award by the NYS Business Council, a testament to the impact of her contributions.

Jess has led and implemented several key programs and initiatives at the Chamber. She developed the Ulster Chamber Eateries and Small Businesses United Facebook platform, which brings community members and business owners together to promote local offerings and support small businesses. Jess also led the "Jess Delicious" video series, featuring over 100 local restaurants, cafes, and coffee shops. This initiative was instrumental in helping these establishments survive the COVID-19 pandemic by showcasing their best offerings and attracting new customers. Additionally, Jess organized the Black Business Community Celebration, an event that celebrates and highlights Black-owned businesses, promoting diversity and inclusion within the community.

In addition to her professional achievements, Jess has been actively involved in various volunteer organizations. She has contributed to the HealthAlliance Foundation, Junior League of Kingston, MAC Park Kids, UCSPCA, and Rip Van Winkle Council Scouts of America. Currently, she serves on the Ulster County Workforce Development Board and the Career In Touch Board, and is a proud member of the Ulster County Italian American Foundation.

Jess is passionate about health and wellness and offers Indoor Cycling at the local YMCA and various health clubs throughout the county, reflecting her commitment to promoting a healthy lifestyle. A proud mom, Jess draws inspiration and motivation from her daughters and values the importance of family. Her deep commitment to both her professional responsibilities and community involvement highlights her dedication to personal and communal growth.
